Summer Program in Quantitative Methods

August 19, 1992

To Whom It May Concern:

This is to verify that Mr. Eric Magar attended the 1992 Inter-university Consortium for Political and Social Research (ICPSR) Summer Program in Quantitative Methods as a "Program Auditor" (June 29 through August 21, 1992) and completed the following workshops:

Mathematical Models: Game Theory
James Morrow, Hoover Institute
(If taken for credit Mr. Magar would have received an A-)

Introduction to Regression Analysis
Saundra Schneider, University of South Carolina
(If taken for credit Mr. Magar would have received an A)

The ICPSR Summer Training Program in Quantitative Methods of Social Research sponsored by the Inter-university Consortium for Political and Social Research, serves Consortium member colleges and universities by offering a comprehensive, integrated program of studies in research, design, statistics, and data analysis, and social methodology. It is an intensive post-doctoral seminar program. Participants taking courses in our Program actually do a college semester of course work in a four week period

Should you have any questions or need further verification regarding the above information, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely,

Gwen Fellenberger
Program Coordinator
